The Visitors Write Letters:

Mr. Haile Pokipala Polynesian Cultural Center Laie, HI 96762

Dear Mr. Pokipala:

Finally, I am expressing our thanks for an absolutely delightful evening at the Polynesian Cultural Center.

Working on the Tour Desk for United Airlines in San Francisco, I was the lucky recipient of a Hyatt package. This magnificient package included comp. admission, dinner, and the evening show at the Polynesian Cultural Center. Patti Kim arranged all the details.

On Wednesday, April 22, my co-traveler, Val Graham, also with United Airlines, and I had reservation at your Show of Shows!

We encountered the true beautiful spirit of Hawaii from the security guards, the darling little girl who handed us our envelope, those who entertained at the different culture sites, and those who seated us.

We were overwhelmed with the size of your property and the many different cultures on display. I keep your program at my desk and now I can elaborate from experience when my passengers inquire about the Polynesian Cutural Center.

You have added two more salesmen to you staff. Mr. Pokipala, we deeply appreciated all the courtesies extended to us by you and your staff.

Sincerely yours, Kay Cline Tour Desk

"The soul is healed by being with children."

Fydor M. Dostoevsky

There is no doubt that the Center provides a unique experience for the thousands of adult guests who daily visit. It is particularly pleasurable, however, to witness the delight of the many hundreds of Hawaii schoolchildren as well as those who accompany their parents from the mainland and further places as they learn new things with us.

Every week the Cultural Education department responds to invitations by sending representatives to schools around the island of Oahu. These cultural specialists share information and insights into Polynesia with children of every age group.

Another function of this department is to host such school groups who arrange field trips to the Center. It is heartwarming to see pre-schoolers from kindergartens solemnly pounding lengths of bamboo to the ground then breaking into wide-eyed smiles of delight when the sound reaches their ears.

They enjoy the tram rides only slightly less than the canoe rides-- and both less than their student guide's local sense of humor. These groups do not see the night show nor the canoe pageant. They come in the early morning when there are few adult visitors.

At that time of day, the sweepers are picking up leaves in the Samoan Village, employees are arranging flowers in the Hawaiian Village, and others are shaking out mats in the Tongan Village. Then the children arrive, often in bright tshirts with their school name across the front.

They are Japanese/Filipino/Hawaiian/Chinese/Portugese/Haole and every conceivable combination. They have one thing in common — they all possess that wonderful view of the world which accompanies childhood, and they enjoy everything about the Center.

It is difficult to imagine a more enthusiastic or appreciative group than the children of Hawaii, unless it is the very old -- the senior citizens of our island. Certainly, seeing children in the Center on an early morning is a great way to start the day, and I agree with Dostoevsky's astute observation.
